

PICASSO'S life

BY QUERIDA LAI (P1, DGJS)

PICASSO IS A FAMOUS PAINTER FROM SPAIN.

He liked to paint his whole life. His dad was an art teacher so he taught Picasso how to paint. Compared to Van Gogh, Picasso was richer and happier because he sold many paintings when he was alive. He drew a picture called "Weeping Woman" and a picture called "Boy with a pipe". Picasso sold many pictures from the Rose Period and the Cubism period, but not the Blue Period.

When Picasso was a baby, he always wanted to draw. Picasso's mother and father knew Picasso liked to paint and thought he would be a painter. Picasso had many girlfriends. Dora Maar was one of his girlfriends so he invented a painting called "Weeping Woman". "Boy with a pipe" is the most expensive drawing. He was luckier than the tragic Vincent Van Gogh. He had a rich life.

In "The Young Ladies of Avignon", two of the ladies have faces that look like African masks. I like the African masks because they are so funny. This adventurous painting was painted in the year of 1907. The ladies in the painting are dancing. One of them is sitting on a rock near the hole. I find it ugly and bizarre.

I think being an artist is interesting because I like drawing and painting. Most of the artists had rich lives like Picasso because they sold many paintings. Vincent Van Gogh is the only one who was poor because he just sold one painting in his life. I like to draw different shapes and sizes. I think being an artist is fun and a lot of hard work.

Boy with a pipe

Weeping Woman

Picasso drew his girlfriend Dora Maar because she was always crying. I find this painting depressing and her face looks like an African mask.

The Young Ladies of Avignon

This drawing is Picasso's first famous painting in Cubism.
